

We have recently looked at our figures for breast cancer screening and carried out a patient survey, you might be interested in the results...

6 out of 688 responders to the breast cancer screening programme in last 5 years developed breast cancer.

8 out of 215 non-responders to breast cancer screening in the last 5 years developed breast cancer. 2 out of 8 were non-responders due to already having been diagnosed and already under the care of the breast team. The other 6 presented with symptoms.

We asked patients about the breast cancer screening process: how did you find the experience overall on a scale of 0-10. 0 being awful, 10 being excellent?
